BIOGRAPHY

Leah Schreiber is a visual artist whose work uses the language of drawing in a variety of media, from acrylic painting to performance, to investigate the gap between the scientific certitude and subjective experience of the physical body.

She received her Bachelor of Fine Art from Illinois State University, and her Master of Fine Art from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. She has received multiple awards and honors including a Marshall Frankel Foundation Fellowship and selection for Milwaukee Artist Resource Network (MARN) Mentors program. She participated as Artist-in-Residence at the American Geographical Society Library in Milwaukee and at Milwaukee Public Schools Summer Enrichment Recreation Camps in association with the MPS Partnership for the Arts grant. Recently, she taught as an Adjunct Lecturer for the Department of Visual and Performing Arts at Carroll University in Waukesha, and currently teaches full-time as Associate Lecturer for the Department of Art and Design at Peck School of the Arts at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.
